DROWNS WHILE BATHING.

Melita, Man., July 9.—Roy Badger, aged 9, was drowned in the Soerenga river yesterday while bathing.

The verdict is the largest ever rendered in a personal injury suit in Ver Bow county.

Knuckey alleged the motorman failed to stop as directed when he attempted to alight, throwing him under the car and causing the loss of his toes.

Among the seven other women names are known and who are believed to have been duped by the prisoner, supposed to be some who also became his wives. It is known that he dressed some of them in his letter.

ANTI-CIGARETTE LAW UNCONSTITUTIONAL

Decision of Superior Court Judge at Tacoma—Case to Be Appealed.

(Times Leased Wire.) Tacoma, Wash., July 9.—The anti-cigarette law passed at the last regular session of the legislature is unconstitutional. This is the decision rendered by Judge Miles L. Clifford in the Superior court this morning in the case of the state against T. E. Snook and J. R. Murphy.

The demurrer to the information charging the defendants with a misdemeanor in having cigarettes in their possession, was sustained. Judge Clifford says that the new law is in restraint of interstate commerce and therefore contrary to the federal constitution. An order for the release of Snook and Murphy was issued. The case decided to-day was taken up from the police court to the highest tribunal for a test and is the first test case to be decided in the state. Deputy Prosecuting Attorney Burmeister announces that the case will be appealed to the State Supreme court, and also to the United States Supreme court, if the state upholds the decision rendered to-day.

BLOODLESS DUEL.

French Minister and Ex-Senator Exchange Shots Without Doing Any Damage.

Paris, July 9.—M. Calliaux, minister of finance, and ex-Senator Charles Bos, editor of Victor Hugo's paper, today fought a bloodless pistol duel. Yesterday Bos slapped Calliaux in the face, alleging that his integrity had been attacked in a speech delivered by the minister. Calliaux and Bos exchanged two shots, but neither took effect.

The seconds then conferred and announced that their principals' honor was satisfied and that they had mutually agreed to stop the duel.

NEXT CONVENTION.

The place of meeting has yet to be decided. According to a resolution passed at the convention closed, one afternoon and evening will be given over to young people's work.

The preacher on that occasion will be Rev. W. Stevenson, of this city. The executive will meet in September, when it will be decided what will be recommended to the general board of the Western Union of Canada, which will meet the following month.

(Times Leased Wire.) London, July 9.—Mrs. Parkhurst was today sentenced to a month's imprisonment for slapping the face of a police inspector in the recent suffragette riots about the House of Commons. The authorities have declared war on the suffragettes, and to-day four women were arrested for maintaining a perpetual blockade about the house of Premier Asquith. The women hoped to present a petition on behalf of the woman's suffrage cause.

PREPARING TO JUDGE EXHIBITS AT FAIR

Sixty-two Juries Will Be Engaged in Work at A.-Y.-P. Exposition.

(Times Leased Wire.) Seattle, Wash., July 9.—Sixty-two juries, consisting of five men each, will pass upon the exhibits at the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition and award medals and diplomas to the winning exhibitors. Final arrangements for the jury work were made to-day at a meeting of the committee on exhibition with Director of Exhibits Dorsch.

In recognition of the international character of the exhibits, one representative of Japan and one of Europe and Canada will be placed on each jury. A third member will represent the United States government, while the remaining two members will be experts in the lines which they are to judge.

THE GINGLES CASE.

Tom Taggart Denies He is in Any Way Implicated in Affair.

Chicago, July 9.—Declaring that he considered it his duty to his family, his friends and himself to clear his name, Tom Taggart appeared at the criminal court early to-day and went on the witness stand in the trial of Ella Gingles, the pretty Irish lace maker, accused of stealing lace from Miss Agnes Barrett, her former employer. Taggart said that so much had been printed about him in connection with the case he felt it was necessary to show that he was not implicated in the affair.

Taggart was represented in court by John Kern and James Hamilton Lewis. The famous politician said that he was 55 years old and described the various political positions he had occupied in the course of his career. He said that he knew Miss Barrett, the prosecuting witness, and explained that he became acquainted with her when she kept a shop at his hotel at French Lick Springs. He declared that he was not in any manner concerned in the Gingles case, and said that he conducted a hotel from which all questionable characters were excluded.

"I know nothing of the charges made by Miss Gingles and am not interested in her in any way," he said in connection with the fact that the girl had testified that when she was attacked by Miss Barrett and her friends in the Wellington hotel, she had heard them mention "Tom Taggart's French Lick Springs hotel."

"I never knew anything about Ella Gingles until I read the accounts of her arrest in the newspapers," said Taggart.

Dr. Watson, a physician at the Wellington hotel, testified that he found Ella Gingles in a bath room of the hotel after she alleged she had been assaulted. He said that the "cuts" she referred to were merely scratches, and that in his opinion she had not been assaulted. He said the girl was screaming when found and appeared to be in a delirium.

CALHOUN WILL GO ON TRIAL MONDAY

Application for Change of Venue Refused by Judge Lawlor.

San Francisco, Cal., July 9.—Patrick Calhoun, president of the United Railroads of this city, will go to trial Monday, July 19th, for the second time this year on charges of having offered a bribe to a supervisor to influence his vote on the overhead trolley franchise granted in 1908. He will be tried before Superior Judge William P. Lawlor, who yesterday denied the motion for a change of venue asked by the defendant on the ground that the court was biased and prejudiced. Judge Lawlor presided in the first trial, which resulted in a disagreement.

The setting of the time and place of trial followed a furious tilt between Assistant District Attorney John O'Gara and J. J. Barrett and A. A. Moore, of counsel for Calhoun.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. J. W. Brown, with her son, Dr. W. J., and daughter, Mrs. Thos. Freeman and Miss Lillian, formerly of North Sydney, C. B., arrived in the city a few days ago from Boston, Mass. They are visiting Capt. Thos. Brown, master of the Dominion dredge Mudrak, and Capt. Harry Brown, son of Mrs. J. W. Brown. The visitors came West with a large party of delegates on a special train over the C. P. R. to attend the International Epworth League convention now being held in Seattle. Miss Lillian, being one of the official delegates, will probably be returning with the party in a week or so. Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Freeman and Capt. Wm. will remain in the city for a couple of months, making their home with Dr. and Mrs. Brown at their pretty residence, 127 Catherine street, Victoria West.

Brook Vale and Harry Beasley left on the Princess Victoria this afternoon for Winnipeg via Vancouver, where they will take part in the Canadian championships.

ORDERS FOR LUMBER COME FROM CHINA

One of Results of Building of Railways—Nation's Progress.

(Times Leased Wire.) Portland, Ore., July 9.—Within three years China will have adopted a system of compulsory education, railroads will be penetrating the vast domain from border to border in the near future, and the monetary standard will have been changed from silver to gold.

These predictions are made by Capt. Robert Dollar, of the Dollar Steamship Company, who has been spending a few days here after returning from a nine months' visit in the Orient.

"China is not the old sleepy nation it was some years ago," said Capt. Dollar. "It is waking up, and I venture to say that in three years they will be educating children and giving them a chance to rise from the ranks in which formerly the ignorant were compelled to remain from birth. Compulsory education, it is expected, will result in wonders for the nation, because it will serve to uplift the masses."

"But China needs a revision of its monetary system. To adopt the gold standard will be a different matter, because China is not a gold producing country, but plans have been devised which appear feasible, and the time will soon come when China, too, on a sound financial basis will be able to compete with the other nations of the earth."

"China is a coming country of railroads, and they are being built and owned by the government. Twelve years or so ago China had but 10 miles of track and road in operation. To-day it has 5,000 miles, and 4,000 miles are building or projected. Within a few years these miles of road will have been completed, and then the country will begin in earnest and commerce will assume proportions heretofore undreamed of."

"The building of these large railroad systems will naturally call for lumber from the Pacific northwest, and orders for large quantities have already been placed."

STRENGTHENING THE BONDS OF FRIENDSHIP

Speeches by President Taft and Hon. R. Lemieux at Burlington.

Burlington, Vt., July 9.—President Taft's participation in the Lake Champlain tercentenary celebration ended last night. The celebration here was in many ways a repetition of the programme followed in New York state. The President seemed more deeply impressed than ever with the sincerity of the expressions of goodwill by the representatives of France, Great Britain and Canada, and declared that the unity which exists between those great nations and the United States never can be torn apart.

Peace and a lasting era of goodwill have been the themes upon which all of the speakers have dwelt.

The President declared in his speech here yesterday that the Champlain celebration would fill a unique place in history as the memorial of the renewed expressions of union and amity among Great Britain, France and the United States.

Last night, with the other visitors, the President was a guest at a banquet, where he delivered his second address of the day, a brief parting word of congratulation and thanks for the splendid manner in which the celebration of Champlain's discovery had been carried out.

The President, after paying compliments to the people and the state of Vermont for their history and their achievements, in his speech at the city hall park, continued:

"We meet here to celebrate his virtues, and to congratulate France, his country, as one that could produce such a hero. But the feature of the memorial that I think is unique is, that gathered here in amity, in peace, and in a union that cannot be torn apart, are three great powers, England, France and the United States, and with England's fairest daughter, the Dominion of Canada."

"I ask you, where, in all the history of memorials can you find one that in that respect will match this. Two regiments of Canadian soldiers, the Governor's Footguards and the Royal Highlanders, marched shoulder to shoulder with the militia of Vermont and the regulars of the United States. They all understand the same orders in the same way, and you did not feel, except for the difference in color of uniforms, that you were looking on any different race."

"Canada" was the subject of an address delivered by the Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux, postmaster-general of Canada, at the dinner given to President Taft in connection with the celebration. The speaker paid his respects to President Taft by saying that the Canadians claimed a part ownership in him on account of the several hundred thousand of his countrymen who had gone over the border and become citizens of the United States. One of the proudest memories in Canadian history was the fact that the little Canada of fifty years ago sent no less than 45,000 men to fight in the ranks of the north to maintain the ascendancy of the stars and stripes, said the postmaster-general.

Speaking of Champlain, the Hon. Mr. Lemieux said: "He was a statesman and missionary as well as an explorer, and it is not too much to say that the leading spirits of those who worked with Champlain were in their way as ardent missionary reformers as any who we to-day send out to China and India or to the darkest Africa."

The speaker said there could never be any real barriers between the United States and Canada, as their futures were already so closely linked together by all the ties of friendship and mutual trade.

SUFFRAGETTES SEND PETITION TO KING

Home Secretary Receives Deputation and Makes Sympathetic Speech.

London, July 9.—Mrs. Despard and the contingent of suffragettes who have been investing the House of Commons for the past week, in the hope of catching Premier Asquith, have scored a point in their fight for the contention that they have a constitutional right to present a petition to a responsible minister of the crown. The suffragettes appealed directly to the King, who informed them that the home secretary was the constitutional channel of communication, and his Majesty apparently followed this up with a hint that Mr. Gladstone would

THE WATER PROBLEM.

Mr. Oliver, Councillor of Oak Bay Municipality, propounds a comprehensive scheme for the solution of the water problem as it affects not only Victoria, but all the country round about. In elaborating his plan Mr. Oliver reflects somewhat severely upon the manner in which the authorities of this city have handled their domestic water supply. Intimating in plain terms that it is extremely doubtful whether residents outside of the city would be acting in their own best interests if they permitted themselves to become dependent upon this municipality for supplies of one of the prime necessities of life. In his references the energetic "suburbanite" cites the experience of Oak Bay in support of his arguments. To the animadversions of Mr. Oliver so far as they apply to the administration of the water department no objections can be taken. There is no question that there has been too much procrastination, a great deal of shilly-shallying and a lamentable lack of business foresight in the management of our waterworks. But admitting that there is some basis for the complaints of the Oak Bay critic, can all the blame and responsibility be laid upon the shoulders of the civic government of Victoria? Would it not be fair to saddle the legislature and the government of British Columbia with at least a portion of the blame and responsibility?

The council of the city acted upon expert advice when it adopted Elk Lake as its source of water supply. The counsel given in the earlier stages of the city's history was based upon the financial resources of the city and upon the then prospects of the city's growth. But the possibilities of the future were not overlooked, and in the light of such possibilities, and by the foresight of the representatives of Victoria in the legislature, the watershed of Goldstream was specially set apart against the day when the watershed of Elk Lake would prove inadequate for our needs. If that reserve at Goldstream had been maintained the complications which followed, and which the city authorities have striven by various means to disentangle, would have been impossible and the course of the people of Victoria would have been clear.

It may be well, also, to call attention to the fact that the granting of rights subversive of the rights of the city to a private company at Goldstream, did not constitute the chief wrong against the citizens of Victoria. The rights granted by the government of British Columbia or the legislature of British Columbia to the Esquimalt company were surrounded by such conditions that the expropriation of the works upon fair and reasonable terms was impossible. Up to the last session of the legislature if the city had undertaken to acquire the works of the company by expropriation a price would have had to be paid far in excess of the actual value of the property as estimated upon the cost of the improvements made and the revenue-producing capacity of the system. Even now, with the amendments made, owing to pressure brought to bear upon the government, the process of expropriation is unduly favorable to the company. There is no reason whatever why the terms of arbitration should not be the ordinary conditions applicable to such cases. Owing to the unquestioned prior rights of the city to the property the shareholders of the company could have had no reason to complain—they might have considered themselves generously treated—had they been recouped for their actual outlay with current rates of interest added thereto.

However, these considerations are beside the question in its present status. The vital point is the acquisition of the works of the Esquimalt Water Works Company by the city upon the best terms possible under existing conditions as fixed by the legislature. Mr. Adams and other authorities of repute maintain that Goldstream is the best source of supply, provided the works can be procured upon reasonable terms. That is the only way in which the whole of the city can be brought permanently under one system. It is the only way in which the rights acquired by the Esquimalt Waterworks Company in Victoria West and the western peninsula can be extinguished. If we put off the day of settlement, every year that passes will add to the difficulties of the situation.

Mr. Oliver's plan is good, but it is high "in the air." It will take time to work out. It is questionable whether any of the municipalities outside of Oak Bay are prepared to shoulder the responsibilities inherent in such a comprehensive scheme. In the meantime the districts surrounding the city are rapidly increasing in population, and the time cannot be very far distant when there will be urgent necessity for them to procure a supply of water independent of that procurable from wells and other primitive sources. At the present time the needs of Victoria and of Oak Bay are imperative. To meet these requirements it is possible that all the lakes and their watersheds in the neighborhood may be appropriated; but as the interests of all residents in the city and its environs are one, there is no reason to believe that when the time comes for apportioning benefits the city of Victoria will not treat its neighbors fairly. If it is not so disposed, the Times will support Mr. Oliver's scheme with ardor.

JOHN HOUSTON'S SHRINE.

In bidding farewell to Prince Rupert, John Houston, the pioneer newspaper man in that city and in some other cities of British Columbia, writes: "The man who wrote this page of the Empire will not again write a page of the Empire. He would be lacking in the one quality that is looked for in men who pioneer new countries were he to refrain from expressing gratitude to the men who made it possible for him to be a pioneer in Prince Rupert; and through him it was possible for hundreds of others to become pioneers in Prince Rupert. The men who made it possible for the writer of these words to live in Prince Rupert were Fred J. Fulton, Robert G. Tatlow, and Dr. Henry Esson Young, LL.D. These three men are members of the McBride government. The pioneers of Prince Rupert owe them more than they will repay them. The writer will say prayers for them in Old Mexico." Those who know John Houston possibly better than he knows himself will scoff at the idea of his remaining long in Old Mexico offering up supplications for the welfare of his friends in British Columbia. John doubtless thinks he will be happy in the sunny south in the midst of Spaniards and people of Spanish extraction, but he is mistaken. He cannot be at peace unless at war against existing institutions, such as corporations and governments and the servants of corporations and governments, unless he is attacking grafters and log-rollers and schemers, and everything that is and ought to be something else. Now John probably cannot write in Spanish, and even if he could write in Spanish, it is high treason in Mexico to assail the work of the Lord's anointed, President Diaz. Everything in Mexico, that is everything which John is accustomed to dealing with as a newspaper man, is intimately connected with the administration of Diaz. It is therefore clear that if this British Columbia newspaper man begins to "carry on" down there, some fine morning he will find himself with his back stationed against a stone wall and a file of "greaser" soldiers armed with carbines preparing to execute the mandate of their president. That is the Mexican way. It is the way in which Diaz, nominally an elected ruler, has become in reality a "popular sovereign." Consequently if John in Mexico followed his natural and acquired habit of attacking all things and pronouncing them vile, he would soon be put out of business more effectively than he charges the McBride government with putting him out of business in British Columbia. Therefore he will have to restrict his public activities entirely to prayers, which are not neglected in that country and will not call for government interference. No one can conceive of John offering up more than one or two invocations upon behalf of his friends, so life for him must become flat, stale and unprofitable. If the Times were not on principle opposed to betting, it would lay heavy odds that the late editor of the Prince Rupert Empire will be back in British Columbia within six months. The call of the fir woods, of the sea and of the mountains, not to speak of the allurements of politics, is irresistible to a man of the constitution of John Houston.

The policeman stationed occasionally at the corner of Fort Street and Oak Bay avenue, presumably to regulate the pace of motor cars, takes a very liberal view of his ostensible duties. A speed of about twenty-five miles an hour when passing "the presence," and thirty miles an hour, sometimes more and sometimes less, elsewhere does not appear to be considered a contravention of the civic by-laws. Why not give the motor cars an entire monopoly of certain streets at certain times? They enjoy that at present, virtually.

Our able Attorney-General has lost another of his appeals to the Privy Council. The policy of "fighting Ottawa" has not been profitable to the province, nor has it added to the political or legal fame of Mr. Bowser. Still, the expense of the latest trip to the foot of the throne has not been altogether in vain, if it has resulted in the restoration of the failing health of British Columbia's esteemed "first law officer of the Crown."

Andy pondered long over this, but suddenly his face brightened. "I hae it, Nancy," he cried. "Ye ken auld John Clemmens? He's a kind man, but he is nae a member o' the kirk. #### HIS EXPLANATION.

The milkman stood before her, nervously, twirling his hat in his hands. "So," she said, sternly, "you have come at last!" "Yes, maadam. You sent for me, I believe," he replied. "How can I have the audacity to ask him to meet any of mine when you're touching him up all the time?"—Harper's Weekly.

HER VIEW OF ART.

An old gentleman who owned a fine estate not far from the country seat of the Duke of Devonshire (which is open to the public when the Duke is not there) one day drove with a party of friends to this famous residence, taking with him his housekeeper, Martha, a good old soul who had been with him a great many years. Arriving at Chatsworth, they passed slowly through room after room of almost priceless pictures. But Martha spoke never a word, although it was evident that she was not missing anything. Each and every picture that her eye lit on underwent a most rigid scrutiny, much to the amusement of the rest of the party.

At last her master turned to her and said, "Well, Martha, what do you think of it all?" "Why," exploded Martha, rapturously, "I canna see a speck o' dust anywhere!"—Lippincott.

What Other People Think

COMPREHENSIVE WATER SCHEME.

The Times has been asked to publish the following letter which appears in this morning's Colonist:

Sir:—In your leading article on the subject of water you say that the "real point in the question is as to whether it is desirable that the future supply of the city of Victoria and its suburbs shall be vested in the city or chiefly in a private company."

Victoria may, in its innocence, imagine that to be the point, but the "suburbans," if you mean by suburbs the surrounding communities, certainly don't.

Speaking as an individual residing in one of the "suburbs," namely, Oak Bay, the last thing that I want to see is the city have the sole control of our sources of supply.

My reason is that the city council has shown itself incompetent in the management of waterworks. It has been inefficient from every point of view, in quantity or pure in quality, and it has for years and years pledged the city's credit to pay for costly errors of management, at the same time asking the interest and sinking fund to the price of water charged to the consumer. The Oak Bay municipality is charged eighteen cents per thousand gallons delivered in bulk, and the city officials say that this price is very little more than the actual value.

You can't seriously wonder that I don't want to be at the mercy of a corporation which can't produce water at a less cost than that.

Owing to our situation it is improbable that Oak Bay can ever have a water system of its own. It is therefore in the position of having to buy water where it can get it best and cheapest.

Obviously it isn't going to be content with a poor supply of smelly water at 18 cents if it can get plenty of pure water that doesn't smell at a less price.

The sentimental argument of public ownership doesn't affect us as we can't be public owners; and as between the fair dealing of a public and private corporation in mind the treatment we have received gives me the latter.

I hope the time is not far distant when the recollection of the city of Victoria's control of our water supply will be as a memory to frighten our thirsty children.

As things are at present the municipality of Oak Bay would probably be far better off were it to buy from a private corporation run on a public corporation run on some other principles altogether. But putting private corporations aside, there seems a popular desire, not only in Victoria, but elsewhere, for a water supply of a community should, where possible, be owned by that community, and I would certainly favor some plan by which Oak Bay might own all the water supply in the city and the other surrounding districts a complete and sufficient water system managed by a competent water expert under direction from a competent board.

With this in view, I have already made the obvious suggestion to members of the government of the province of British Columbia, and others, that the whole of the city of Victoria and its surrounding districts, including the water supply, should, for convenience, we may call "Victoria Water District," with the control of its water supply vested in a water board composed of representatives from all the municipalities and districts affected.

For example, say there were four municipalities, Victoria, Oak Bay, Saanich and Esquimalt, and several other unincorporated districts, including Metchoin, Sooke, Goldstream, etc., then Victoria and each of the other municipalities would appoint its own representatives on the board (the number of districts would depend upon the size being proportionate to the importance and population of the particular municipality), and the government of British Columbia, as representing the unorganized districts, would appoint members to represent these. There is absolutely nothing original in this idea. It is simply a measure adopted in innumerable cases in Britain where there have been a variety of different communities dependent on the same source for their water supply, each possessing separate rights. If, as is usually the case, these rights clash and the communities can't come to a friendly understanding, the government knocks their heads together and constitutes such a water board as is above described.

The powers of the board would be simple and drastic. The only one necessary to mention is that it would rest with the board to build whatever systems it saw fit and to expropriate any others that it might consider of public advantage. For example, if the board thought that it was for the advantage of the district to go to Sooke, it would be its duty to take immediate steps to do so. On the other hand, if the board thought it would be advantageous to let the community to own either the Elk Lake system or the Esquimalt waterworks system, or both, it would proceed to expropriate. It sounds as though it would be a difficult thing to finance such expropriation.

It has not been found so in the Old Country. The process is very simple. The board would not have to raise any capital. After the value had been determined by arbitration the board would issue to the owners of the works expropriated in lieu of cash, what are known as "perpetual water bonds" for the amount awarded. The security for the interest on these bonds would be the water rates.

Curiously enough, in talking this matter over with various people, they have almost invariably seen a difficulty in the appointment of the board. The idea would be different as to the proportion of each district's representation, but when that matter had been settled by the provincial house, I feel very confident that there ought to be no difficulty in obtaining the competent public spirited men. The basis of their appointment would be that they should receive no salary, and their appointment, I think, should be for a term of years, with retirement by rotation.

Of course the practical manager of the system would not only receive a salary, but ought, undoubtedly, to be super-considerate. I may be a super-considerate man myself, but I have considered this system for some time, have read many of the English acts creating similar systems, and I can't for the life of me see how you could find a fairer one or one more likely to be of advantage to the south end of Vancouver Island generally.

It ought to finally settle the water question and remove from Victoria this one blot that has made its civic management a perennial laughing stock all over Canada.

MORE MEN AT WORK IN DOMINION MINES

Pickets Are Busy, But No Disturbances Have Been Reported.

(Special to the Times.)

Sydney, N. S., July 9.—Owing to the heavy storm yesterday afternoon, the coming of the troops belonging to the Halifax garrison last night did not cause as much sensation as was expected. This morning a dead calm prevails, no disturbances of any kind being reported. Several men passing into work were accosted by pickets and asked not to work, but otherwise there was no interference.

The number of men working to-day is larger than at any time since the strike was called. The company announces it expects to have a full complement working to-morrow morning. The majority working are not members of either union, but men who go to their homes in the winter months, working in the mines in spring and summer.

EPWORTH LEAGUE CONVENTION.

Business Sessions Will Come to a Close This Evening.

Seattle, Wash., July 9.—In spite of the fact that the International Epworth League delegates were kept up late last night by the session in the armory, many arose at an early hour to attend the morning watch service at the Methodist churches of the city. This forenoon the time was taken up with department conferences.

The afternoon session at the armory is largely attended and Rev. Franklin Hamilton, of Boston, vice-president of the league; Rev. Charles Edward Locke, of Los Angeles, who preached McKinley's funeral sermon; Rev. E. C. McKivoy, of St. Louis; Rev. George P. Mains, of New York City; Rev. Stephen J. Herben, editor of the Epworth Herald, of Chicago; Rev. R. D. Hamilton, of Listowel, Ont.; Prof. J. McHenry Jones, of Charleston, W. Va.; and Rev. Edwin A. Schell, of Mount Pleasant, Iowa, were on the programme.

A social feature of this evening will be the reception to junior league workers. The business sessions of the big convention will come to a close to-night with speeches by the general secretaries of the three Epworth leagues. To-morrow the visitors will take up the recreation features of the convention. The board of control of the Epworth League at a special meeting late yesterday decided to hold the next meeting in Boston on Wednesday, May 13, 1910, to arrange the date and place of holding the next Epworth League convention.

COUNCILLORS CAME TO BLOWS.

Wild Scenes Mark Meeting of the Dublin City Council.

A recent meeting of the Dublin city council degenerated into a regular Donnybrook. Exciting wrangles led to blows and wrestling bouts on the floor of the chamber in the Mansion House in the Irish capital.

Alderman Reigh moved, and Alderman Dowling seconded, a resolution calling upon the five M.P.s for the city to oppose the budget.

Councillor Cosgrove (Sinn Fein) moved as an amendment: "That this council have no further confidence in the Irish party."

The Lord Mayor—This is an attack on the parliamentary party.

Councillor O'Kelly: "I know it is. I never intended it as anything else." He was proceeding to say that he was about to expose the dishonesty of the parliamentary party when amid an indescribable din, the Lord Mayor declared the motion out of order.

At this point Councillor O'Kelly, very excited, made his way towards the Lord Mayor's chair, followed by several of his supporters, and called out loudly: "We are not going to stand this any longer. We'll make a bear garden of the place. If you rule it out of order, I say you are acting disgracefully. The amendment is absolutely in order."

An attempt was made to proceed with some further business, but it was a failure, and Councillor Clear (addressing the Lord Mayor), said: "I have been sitting here under your ruling for the past five or six months, and I have come to the conclusion that you have acted to-day in a most disgraceful manner." (Oh, oh.)

The uproar continuing, Mr. Sherlock moved that the House adjourn for a week. This was understood to be carried, and the Lord Mayor left the chair, while the sword and mace were removed from the table.

Then there was a violent outburst, in the midst of which Mr. J. J. Sheeha and Mr. Brady were seen in handgrips, pummeling each other, and a moment later both were rolling on the floor of the council chamber. In the effort to separate the combatants several of the councillors were tripped up and there was a confused mass of legs and chairs about the floor.

While this was going on an altercation of a violent character took place between Mr. Sherlock and Mr. O'Carroll, in which blows were struck.

Finally order was restored, and the members left the Mansion House.

SNAKE WORSHIPPERS.

An appeal has been made to County Attorney Helinger, of Hutchinson, Kas., to break up a religious sect of "snake worshippers," at whose meetings women and children are said to have been bitten by poisonous reptiles. The sect has about 13 members, who style themselves "The True Followers of Christ." The members say the handling of snakes without receiving injury is a supreme test of grace. It is said that at a recent meeting two women and one child were bitten, the child at present being in a critical condition. The authorities say they are powerless to act until a death results.

Treating The Wrong Disease

Many times women call on their family physicians, suffering, as they imagine, one from dyspepsia, another from heart disease, another from liver or kidney disease, another from nervous prostration, another with pain here and there, and in this way they present alike to themselves and their easy-going or over-busy doctor, separate diseases, for which he, assuming them to be such, prescribes his pills and potions. In reality they are all only symptoms caused by some weakness or derangement of the organs distinctly feminine. The physician, ignorant of the cause of suffering, keeps up his treatment until large bills are made. The suffering patient gets no better by reason of the wrong treatment, but probably worse. A proper medicine like Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, directed to the cause would have entirely removed the disease, thereby dispelling all those distressing symptoms, and instituting comfort instead of prolonged misery. It has been well said, that "a disease known is half cured."

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a scientific medicine, carefully devised by an experienced and skillful physician, and adapted to woman's delicate system. It is made of native American medicinal roots without the use of alcohol and is perfectly harmless in its effects in any condition of the female system.

As a powerful, invigorating tonic "Favorite Prescription" imparts strength to the whole system and to the organs distinctly feminine in particular. For overworked, "worn-out," "run-down," debilitated teachers, milliners, dressmakers, seamstresses, "shop-girls," housekeepers, nursing mothers, and feeble women generally, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the greatest earthly boon, being unequalled as an appetizing cordial and restorative tonic.

As a soothing and strengthening nerve-tonic, Dr. Pierce's great book, the People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, a magnificent thousand-page illustrated volume. It teaches mothers how to care for their children and themselves. It is the best doctor to have in the house in case of emergency. Over half a million copies were sold at $1.50 each, but one free copy in paper-covers will be sent on receipt of 31 one-cent stamps to pay the cost of mailing only; or send 50 stamps for a handsome cloth-bound copy. "The Literary Digest" has recently quoted "The Hospital," of London, on the subject of beer and what it does to those who drink it. It is a good article and maintains that beer and stout contain all the elements of a typical diet, except fat, and while very obese persons and certain types of invalids should not use them, other people may with advantage. Indeed, it says that a crust of bread and cheese with a glass of beer constitute a meal at once simple and very nutritive. The British medical journal goes so far as to hope that the number of beer drinkers may increase in England.

CONTRACTS UNDER EXPROPRIATION

SERIOUS QUESTIONS

HAVE TO BE MET

Opinion Has Been Advanced That Has Important Bearing.

The water question now again so prominently to the fore carries with it lots of trouble for the city fathers and for many others who have some connection with the matter. As time goes on the difficulties increase, a statement to which those interested will be very ready to subscribe.

One of the latest little tangles to arise is the point as to whether the transfer of the undertaking of the Esquimalt company to the city by expropriation proceedings will carry with it the right to enforce contracts then in existence between the Esquimalt company and the other bodies. The general opinion has been that these contracts would be binding upon the city but there are those who take a different view of the question.

The settlement of the point would have an important bearing upon the Oak Bay water supply question. The city has agreed to furnish Oak Bay with water in bulk at a rate of about 18 cents. Only recently the neighboring municipality entered into an arrangement with T. Lubbe, of the Esquimalt company, by which water would be supplied at 5 cents. The saving was a very considerable one and the question at once comes up, what will happen if the city expropriates Goldstream, would the city be bound by this contract and have to supply water at 5 cents to Oak Bay or would the contract entered into by Mr. Lubbe become void?

In the matter of the contract between the Esquimalt company and the Trinity company whereby water is supplied for power to the latter corporation the same question arises. There has been a feeling on the part of citizens that the taking over of the Goldstream proposition by the city would carry with it that contract.

Now has come a declaration which is said to have the support of the city hall that expropriation proceedings would cancel all existing contracts being essentially a different procedure to that of purchase in the ordinary way.

BRICK PAVEMENT BEST FOR HEAVY TRAFFIC

Seattle's City Engineer Gives an Opinion on Comparative Merits.

R. H. Thomson, the city engineer of Seattle, was here with the good roads delegates who were in the city yesterday, Seattle having passed through the mill, as far as experience with pavement materials is concerned, Mr. Thomson's opinion was sought by some of the city fathers, and will probably be made use of.

Brick pavement for streets where the traffic is heavy, Mr. Thomson says, is what Seattle's experience has taught. When properly laid it lasts practically forever, he says. On streets where the business done is retail and the merchants keep their doors open a great deal of asphalt is found to be the most satisfactory material. In durability it is not equal to brick. Wood block paving is reckoned as having a life of four to five years, and is laid down in front of schools, churches, public halls and other places where the noise made by other pavements is objectionable. All the patent pavement materials have been tried out in Seattle, and each has been found to have its own good and bad points, Mr. Thomson says. These are chiefly valuable on residential street and on thoroughfares where the traffic is not heavy.

The Sound city is going ahead by leaps and bounds, its engineer says. Apart from the extra business due to the fair, trade in all lines has greatly increased in the past year, and the amount of civic work is keeping pace with the general advance.

FIRMFOOT WAS A SURPRISE

WINNERS IN RACES
AT WILLOWS TRACK

Good Card Yesterday—The Deceptive Angle Picture.

Firmfoot, W. J. Spier's aged gelding, which has been a starter in many races at the Willows at all kinds of prices since the meeting opened, but which has never been in the money except a second to Capt. Burnett June 15th—over seven furlongs, yesterday won the mile race from a moderate field of seven. Backers of the favorite, Emma G., starting even money had the annoyance of seeing the mare left standing side on to the barrier when the tape went up.

Firmfoot was fit and ready and the fact was recognized by several who beat the price down from fifteen to one after the horses came from the paddock. The race was the gelding's all the way. Sam McGibben and Aristote filled the places, following the leader round the course twice in regular order. Emma G. ran into fourth, but Archibald could not get the mare up further owing to the bad start.

Cinnamon got left at the post in the second, but he could not have beaten the speedy Eddie Graney, although he was the paddock tip for the race. Archibald jumped to the front with Eddie Graney and was never caught. He was six lengths ahead of Abihu, with Otranto half a length third from Irma Lee.

In the finish Traffic beat Adena a length because the Durker mare ran out some at the first turn. Maud McG. was third. Korostany, the winner in the last race, was never in trouble. Giovanni Balerio had an easy second from Prince Brutus. With Mitre and Peggy O'Neal equal favorites for the six furlongs the public saw Brooks ride Mitre a winner from a good start, with Colbert second and Peggy O'Neal, under Archibald third.

Yesterday was not Archibald's day. He did not appear to handle his horses as well as on previous days. He, however, got a win, second and third for six mounts.

Ten horses belonging to Barney Schreiber will arrive next week. Jockey Coburn arrived yesterday and will be in the saddle to-morrow or Monday.

Jockey Shilling's license has been revoked by the Pacific Jockey Club. Jockey Alarie is still in the hospital from his fall last week. He will be out in about ten days.

Jockey Selden was improving last night and is now expected to recover.

"The Deceptive Angle" is the title of a photograph picture hung yesterday in front of the stand for the public to look at. It is a series of three pictures, the first of two horses taken facing a line standing still. The camera is then moved fifteen feet each way and the photographs taken with the horses still in the same position. The difference of position of the camera alters the horses in the pictures so that while they are in fact straight, the camera man fifteen feet on the slant took one to be ahead of the other.

The picture has been posted apparently in reply to the criticism of the judgment in the two rulings in which East was concerned. People on either side of the judges' box, however, and directly in line with it have been of the same opinion regarding the two decisions the Times has referred to. It is a well known fact in photography that a camera is by no means infallible.

The results of yesterday's races in detail are:

THE RING.

PAPKE GOING TO PARIS.

San Francisco, Cal., July 8.—Billy Papke will go to Paris shortly after his match with Flynn in Los Angeles, according to announcement made by the thunderbolt's local representative.

"Now that Ketchel has taken on a fight, Papke has lost hope of getting a deciding match with the champion," said Bloet. "He has several good offers from Parisian clubs and will go to the French capital soon after his Los Angeles fight."

ATTELL AND FORBES.

San Francisco, Cal., July 8.—Harry Foley is somewhat puzzled over reports from Chicago to the effect that Monte Attell, who is under Harry's wing, and Harry Forbes, the ex-champion of the bantams, have been matched to go ten rounds at Hammond, Ind., on July 17th. Foley has no negotiations with the Hammond club, but if the proper inducements are held out he will be glad to make the match. A fight between Attell and Coulton is still in the air, but Coffroth has not dropped negotiations with the Chicago box. In the meantime, Charley Lerari may match

Attell and Billy Ryan for this month. M'GOVERN SENT TO HOSPITAL.

NEW GRAND THEATRE.

"A Christmas on the Comstock," a story of the old mining days of California, written by H. D. Catterell and played by Monda Glendowes and Raymond Manion, is the attraction of merit at the Grand theatre this week and has been drawing loud praises from the capacity houses which have witnessed the show.

For eccentric and clever dancing McDevitt and Kelly can hold their own against all comers. Their foot turning and twisting brings down the house, and they have made one of the biggest hits in the history of the Grand. Without a doubt their dancing will compare with all comers.

Lillian Fisher, operatic soloist, has a very entertaining role in "I Dreamt That I Dwell in Marble Halls" and "I Wish I Were on the Stage," from Fritz Scheff's "Mlle. Modiste," the latter being sung by request. Miss Fisher appears beautifully gowned and sings well in a clear and full voice. Her turn is being well received.

The five Patterson Sisters in a whirlwind of musical comedy, and Thomas J. Price in one of his best songs, with good illustrated pictures, and the French novelty motion pictures are the other turns on the bill.

MEXICAN BRIGANDAGE.

The Rurales, or mounted police, have pretty nearly put a stop to brigandage. Several years ago, during the presidency of Comonfort, the government recognized the wisdom of the old adage, "Set a thief to catch a thief," and offered pardon and protection to all brigands who would come in and enlist as Rurales. Most of them took advantage of the offer, and with these men on the side of law and order, hold-ups soon became infrequent, and the Rurales developed into a wonderfully efficient mounted force to hunt down bandits. They are fearless riders, they know every mountain pass and fastness, and when they once start after a man he is pretty sure to be caught or killed—generally killed.

The Rurales of Mexico compare favorably in bravery and reckless daring with that wonderful organization, the Northwest Mounted Police of Canada, and are by far the best armed force in Mexico. Their calling gives them opportunity for wild adventure, and thus satisfies the craving for a life of danger, which led many of them to be brigands in the first instance. They are a free and easy lot, quite in contrast to the peaceably-inclined policemen of the towns, and the slow-moving, indolent soldiery of the regular army.

From "Beyond the Mexican Sierras," by Dillon Wallace, in the Outing Magazine for July.

GAMBLING AMONG WOMEN.

The Bishop of Birmingham, speaking at the annual meeting of the Anti-Gambling League held at Birmingham, said no one who cared about the national well-being could fail to be profoundly alarmed at the enormous spread of the gambling habit during the last thirty years. Disgrace as gambling was among men, it was ten times more disastrous among women, robbing their nature of all those finer qualities which the country most wanted.

AFTER SUFFERING YEARS

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Fox Creek, N.B.—"I have always had pains in the joints and a weakness there, and often after my meals my food would distress me and cause soreness. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done me much good. I am stronger, my digestion is better, and I can walk with a light step. I have encouraged many mothers of families to take it, as it is the best remedy in the world. You can publish this in the papers."—Mrs. WILLIAM BOURQUE, Fox Creek, N.B., Canada.

The above is only one of the thousands of grateful letters which are constantly being received by the Pinkham Medicine Company of Lynn, Mass., which prove beyond a doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, actually does cure these obstinate diseases of women after all other means have failed, and that every such suffering woman owes it to herself to at least give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial before submitting to an operation, or giving up hope of recovery.

Mrs. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health and her advice is free.

CARNEGIE SATISFIED WITH LIBRARY SCHEME

His Donations to That Object Now Reach Fifty Millions.

Andrew Carnegie has founded 1,500 public libraries, representing donations aggregating $1,500,000, according to his statement in an article in the current number of Collier's Weekly.

"My secretary tells me," he writes, "we have given 1,500 library buildings, all under the same conditions, scattered among the English-speaking peoples of the globe, including New Zealand, the West Indies, Australia and all English-speaking countries. So far Canada has taken almost as many as our own land in proportion to population.

"When I gave Dr. Billings the note agreeing to furnish New York city with seventy-eight library buildings, which was the largest wholesale business I ever did at any one time in library giving, I was met by many who offered their hands and wished to congratulate me upon having given New York such a gift. My invariable reply was: 'No, I cannot receive your congratulations upon that account, but if you wish to congratulate me upon having induced New York city to agree to supply its inhabitants with free libraries everywhere, then shake.' It is not what the individual gives, but what, by giving part, he thereby induces communities to give that really counts."

He has been asked many times, Mr. Carnegie says, if he is satisfied with the results from his enormous outlay in libraries.

"Yes," he adds, "in the fullest measure I am more than satisfied, and rejoice that it has been permitted me to stand ready to give any English-speaking community in any part of the world a sum necessary to erect a library building on the conditions mentioned. Perhaps I owe something to heredity in following this library development, but it was not until long after I had begun that I learned that my father, a weaver in Dunfermline, was one of five fellow-weavers who agreed to combine their few books and give them out to applicants. So that my father may be said to have assisted in giving the first public library to Dunfermline, and his son has been privileged to give the last."

This is the total of Mr. Carnegie's library gifts to December 31st, 1908, according to a table prepared under his direction and declared to be the first accurate statement on the subject:

STEAMER TEUCER BREAKS RECORDS

LESS THAN THIRTEEN DAYS FROM ORIENT

Fastest Steamer of Speedy Line Arrived at Noon To-day.

The record for the Blue Funnel liners on the Pacific was broken by the steamer Teucer, which arrived just after noon to-day from Yokohama. This line of freighters has the reputation for being the fastest on the ocean, and the Teucer is one of the fastest, if not the fastest of all the vessels of that line. She formerly held the record, making the trip from Yokohama to Victoria in 13 days 1 hour. The latest feat is 12 days 22 hours 42 minutes.

The steamer experienced a good deal of fog. On the third day out the breeze shifted from northerly to southerly, and then the fog came up and stayed with them until nearly within sight of the Vancouver Island shore, where strangely enough it cleared so that they were not hindered in entering the straits.

The vessel brought 8,500 tons of freight, in all of which about 1,500 was for Victoria. A small amount of this was from Hong Kong, but the rest was from Europe.

The cargo from Liverpool and Glasgow included 10 tons steel rails and fish plates for R. Dunsmuir & Sons; 10 tons Canada plates for McClary Manufacturing Co.; 20 tons soda ash and caustic soda for the B. C. Soap Works; 5 tons pipe connections for A. Sheret, and 7 tons for Hayward & Dods; 6 tons iron and steel for G. D. Ramsay; 10 tons wire rope and steel sheets for R. Ward & Co.; 5 tons plate glass for Mellor Brothers; 5 tons Canada plates for B. A. Paint Co.; 15 tons tubes for the Robertson-Gordon Co.; 26 tons whitening and paria white for B. A. Paint Co.; 4 tons sheet lead for R. Ward & Co.; 5 tons chandeliers for E. B. Marvin & Co.; 4 tons metal alloy for E. G. Prior & Co.; 5 tons tin plate for Pioneer Co., and a quantity of naval supplies for the ships at Esquimalt.

The steamer brought 444 Chinese bound for all parts of the continent. Two more started on the journey but one died of heart disease before reaching Yokohama and the remains were sent back on the Decalcan of the same line. His comrade, feeling lonely and fearing that the fates were against the trip, left the steamer at Yokohama. He will probably come on the next Blue Funnel steamer.

Captain Parkinson, who is in charge of the vessel, is the captain who was made famous in the wreck off the Hook of Holland.

There was a consignment of livestock aboard the Teucer coming all the way from England. This was a Southdown ram consigned to Dr. Watt at William Head. The doctor is a breeder of pure bred Southdowns, and this importation is for the purpose of improving his stock.

MARINE NOTES

Steamer Iroquois did not arrive from Seattle this morning until nearly 10 o'clock. She took the Alaska theatrical company to Tacoma early this morning, leaving Seattle at midnight, and this caused the delay. There were 43 people in the theatrical company, and the steamer brought 143 passengers to this city.

Steamer City of Puebla arrived from San Francisco early this morning with 192 passengers for British Columbia and Puget Sound ports. She also brought a quantity of freight for this port. Among the arrivals here were Captain Nash and wife.

FAMINE AVERTED BY PRAYERS OF PRINCES

Passenger on Tosa Maru Tells of Arrival of Rain in Central China.

There will be no famine in China was the good news brought by the steamer Tosa Maru last evening from the Orient. There was in the central provinces a dangerous drought, which, if continued much longer, would have resulted in a very serious famine among the peasants, who live from year to year on the small returns of a little patch of land. Seeing the danger the regent ordered that prayers should be offered to the God of Mercy and a dozen other deities to whom it is customary to appeal in such cases, asking that the needed rain might be sent. The regent explained to his princes that the principal reason for offering the prayers was that the peasants might be comforted. The princes and nobles went off to pray, and the rain came, so their prayers were effective. This is the account given by a returning missionary, R. L. Simpkin, who, with Mrs. Simpkin, is returning on the Tosa Maru. They are now on the way to New York.

TROLLERS IN STRAITS ARE SUCCESSFUL

Fine Spring Salmon Landed by Local Sports.

There is good fishing in the straits, according to reliable reports brought by those who have been catching fish. Captain Combe and his officers were out a couple of days ago and the captain landed in six. Chief Engineer Rowell caught two, but Chief Officer Richardson failed to make a strike. The fishing was done in the neighborhood of Brothie Ledge.

Two fifteen pound spring salmon were landed a day or two ago off Trial Island by Mr. Bender, and Mr. Phillips took a sixteen-pounder in the same neighborhood as well as two fine codfish. The salmon was caught about forty or fifty yards from shore.

Ed North and his wife and George Werner and wife have gone to spend a couple of months fishing.

A very fine tarpon was seen at Foster's shop a day or two ago. It was over six feet in length and was one caught by Jack O'Reilly on the south coast.

TO INVESTIGATE PURITAN'S GROUNDING

Thomas Mitchell to Hold Preliminary Inquiry Into Cause.

Thomas Mitchell of this city, has been appointed by the department of marine and fisheries to hold a preliminary investigation into the grounding of the barque Puritan in the Fraser river a short time ago. Should he find it necessary a fuller and complete public inquiry will be held. The idea of the investigation is to ascertain who, if any one, is responsible for the mishap.

The Puritan went ashore when being towed out of the river with a heavy load of lumber from the Fraser mills. She was freed from the bar largely through the agency of the big dredge Fruehling, and came here for survey, where it was found she had suffered no damage. She sailed for Australia the day before yesterday.

The time used is Pacific Standard, for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 9 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. The height is in feet and tenths of a foot, above the average level of the lowest low water in each month of the year. This level is half a foot lower than the datum to which the sounding on the Admiralty chart of Victoria harbor are reduced.

Steamer Erna, of the Jabsen line, will probably not arrive from Corinto and way ports until the early part of next week.

TOSA MARU MAKES LAST CALL HERE

No Information as to What Will Be Done With Steamer.

After a disagreeable trip across the Pacific, the Tosa Maru arrived in port last night, bringing 94 passengers, most of whom were for Seattle. Prominent among them was the wife of the Japanese Consul-General to Canada, Mrs. Nakamura, whose husband was here to meet her. She travelled in company with her maid. Another passenger who attracted some attention was Mr. Ellason, better known as Dante, the magician, who, with his wife, is coming to this continent to engage in his sleight-of-hand art. Mr. and Mrs. Simpkin were returning missionaries from Central China. There were also several other Americans returning from the Orient.

Captain Harrison had no information as to what would be done with his steamer after she left this run. The agents here have orders to accept no freight for Chinese ports, but they hope to take some cargo for Japan. No one knows what will be done with her, and the only information is that the company has other uses for her. It was suggested by some members of the crew that they thought she would lie up for a time until trade conditions improved, but the company has already four or five steamers tied up, and it seems unlikely that they will do the same with the big freighters of this line if they can possibly help it.

A quantity of silk and new crop tea was brought on the Tosa, the vessel having four thousand tons in all, about 450 tons of which was discharged here last night before the vessel left for Seattle.

News was brought from Moji that a Japanese explorer, Kodama Oomatsu, had left for Australia, from which point he intended to start out in search of the South Pole. Mr. Oomatsu has some good ideas of exploring in the islands of the south seas, but there is little really new to attract a discoverer in those regions. Accordingly he has decided to try to be the first to reach the southern end of the world's axis ahead of the explorers from the European countries, and thus win fame for himself and his country. Albany, 19. The Tosa Maru left for Seattle this morning.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES

OF CONVENTIONBAPTIST GATHERING
BROUGHT TO CLOSE

Resolutions Passed at Evening
Meeting—Educational Work of Church.

The women's session of the Baptist convention opened yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock, with Mrs. Spofford presiding. Devotional exercises were conducted by Mrs. Walker, president of the Women's Society of First Baptist Church, Victoria. Mrs. Spofford introduced Mrs. Huleott, of Ottawa, known as a writer for children in Baptist periodicals under the nom de plume of Sister Belle. Mrs. Huleott spoke briefly of the pleasure it afforded her to be present, and also of the unbounded influence of mothers in moulding the lives of their children. Each mother had an influence which no one but the Lord knows. Work at home might seem uninteresting, but it was precious in the Lord's sight.

Mrs. Postel, the secretary of the Woman's Mission Board for British Columbia, submitted a very interesting report of work done throughout the province. Two new circles had been added throughout the year, mission bands had been formed, and the work in general had been encouraging. She advised that all moneys collected should be sent to the general fund for distribution, in order that the most needy cause might in every case be reached. Mrs. Postel reported that all sorts of Christian literature was being used in the different societies, but the majority were studying the "Near and Further East" series.

Mrs. Shortt, of Vancouver, spoke very strongly in favor of the latter at the conclusion of Mrs. Postel's report. Mrs. McNaughton moved, and Mrs. McEwen seconded, that the missionary report be adopted, and the motion carried unanimously. The report was not far an entire year, but from October 1st, 1908, to May 31st, 1909.

Miss Mary R. B. Selman, of Akidum mission, Southern India, being called upon, gave a very entertaining and instructive talk on her work in India, which was listened to with the closest attention by the large audience present. She began by saying that since she could not take her hearers to India to see for themselves, she would endeavor to bring India nearer. This she succeeded in doing by a series of vivid word pictures, in which she showed the greater part of the three hundred millions of people who go to make up the present population of India, living in small mud houses, with thatched roofs, without chairs, tables or beds, or any of what is considered the necessities of life; children clad in "rubbish and Jewellery," and men working for eight cents a day and boarding themselves.

She painted, too, in a few pathetic words, the misery of the child widows of India. Little girls of five, six and ten, going about with shaven heads, cursed, ignored, ill-treated, and subjected to all sorts of indignities. Miss Selman spoke also of what she had actually seen at Benares, a temple where 200 monkeys were kept caged and worshipped; of the cow temple, which no foreigner was allowed to enter, but which resembled in many respects an ordinary American cow stable; the pathetic sight of old pilgrims who had come long weary journeys in the hope that by bathing in the filthy waters of the Ganges they might attain to eternal life. Turning to the other side of the picture, Miss Selman recounted briefly the work that was being done along educational, medical, and theological lines. A school was often started by the missionary under a tree, in a cow shed, anywhere in fact. Sand is sprinkled on the ground, the missionary traces the letters of the alphabet on it, and the lesson begins. If natives express a wish for a church or school, they are made to contribute towards it.

Miss Selman laid great stress on the need of educating the children of India. They made the most effective missionaries. They could reach the people easier, as they understood the language perfectly, were inured to the climate, and knew the customs and superstitions of the country. The government hospitals of India were of little use in missionary work, as they were under the management of natives, and Indians had no confidence in their fellow countrymen, but would always go to the missionaries for treatment in preference to going to the hospitals.

The lady missionaries were doing good work among the high caste women, who could not be reached in any other way. Cheap literature was being distributed with good effect, and although there were many discouragements and disappointments, the progress on the whole was favorable. The people of India were grasping after something they knew not what, and the land was filled with unrest, which nothing but a knowledge of true Christianity would ever satisfy. Miss Selman closed her address by saying that more precious than the silver of Calcutta, or the gold of the Yukon, was a human soul.

Miss Selman's address received a very appreciative vote of thanks, and a collection was taken up for the work in which she is engaged.

Miss Parfitt contributed a sacred solo which was much enjoyed, and the reading of a message from Mrs. Macleod, the lady missionary who is supported by the Victoria Baptist Mission circle, brought the women's session to a close.

Rev. Dr. Macleod then took the chair, and Principal E. W. Sawyer, of Okanagan College, was called on. He reported 50 per cent increase in attendance and 500 per cent increase in earning power at the college. Last year the college took in $2,000, this year it has taken in $12,000, and solid progress was being made. The teaching staff was an excellent one, and pupils were surrounded with Christian influences.

THE IMPERIAL PRESS CONFERENCE.

A DAY WITH THE FLEET.

Of the material things witnessed by the members of the first Imperial Press Conference, none will live longer in memory than the great naval display put on for their benefit at Spithead on a never-to-be-forgotten Saturday, when as guests of the Admiralty and of Sir John Fisher, its first sea lord, they journeyed to Portsmouth to view what Lord Rosebery had referred to as "our prodigious but always inadequate Armada."

The press has always told of that yondrous spectacle—the greatest aggregation of fighting ships the world has ever seen—and it will be unnecessary for me to more than add a word or two of the personal impressions one is bound to gather on such an occasion. The spectacle itself was one to stir the blood of the most sluggish. First the thunder of nineteen guns—the Admiralty salute—from the old Victory herself. What visions of that far-off day in Trafalgar Bay it conjured up, and as we gazed one almost waited to see the light figure of "the greatest sailor since the world began" appear on her splendid decks and point to the great fleet which his genius has made possible.

Then the journey of eighteen miles through the lines of ships—first class battleships, cruisers, destroyers, torpedo-boats, destroyers, and last but not least, the most deadly of all—the submarine, and not one of these vessels over ten years of age!

Moving about quietly all day, talking to delegates and British newspapermen as unostentatiously as a midwife, was the man who has created the fleet, Admiral John Fisher. Victorians, perhaps, have a sore spot in their hearts against him because he dismantled Exmouth, but in the light of later events he is not to be applauded for calling in every ship and concentrating them in the North Sea, where, if the blow falls, it will be first met? Enemies he has by the score, but he pursues his relentless way, building up the great machine which is the pride of the British race.

Among the vessels assembled at Spithead was the Essex, and her commander, Capt. Stanley, and his wife—a daughter of ex-Speaker Pooley—gave special attention to the comfort of those hailing from Canada and the West.

COLONIAL OPERA COMPANY.

The Colonial Opera Company, numbering thirty-five singing people, will open a week's engagement at the Victoria theatre next Monday evening, presenting for the first half of the week "The Isle of Spice," this to be followed on Thursday and for the rest of the week with "The Show Girl." Both these pieces are well and favorably known to music lovers everywhere, and it is promised that in present hands they will suffer none in comparison with the original companies. "The Isle of Spice" is an extremely clever show, replete with melodies that tickle the ear and humorous dialogue and situations that act likewise upon the risibilities. The Colonial company, which includes Adele Oswald, Nellie Nickolls, Edith Barton, Harry Watson, Frank Woods, E. Cott Albertson, Frank D. Nelson, Harry Burgess, Frank French and others. These are all well known names and should constitute a well high perfect cast. The chorus is said to be large, melodious and completely complete in every respect. "The Isle of Spice" will be given for three nights to be followed the last half of the week by "The Show Girl," another of B. C. Whitney's most striking successes. The engagement will be played at popular prices and the seats for the entire week will be placed on sale at the box office of the theatre tomorrow morning.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Innes, of Vancouver, are guests at the Empress.

Mrs. McInnes, of California, is renewing old friendships in town.

Mrs. A. G. King, 1040 Burdette avenue, will not receive again this season.

Mrs. William Atkins, Beach Cottage, Dallas road, will be one of tomorrow's hostesses.

Mrs. M. E. Walker, Rupert street, is entertaining Mrs. W. H. Ireland, of Vancouver.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Baer, of Los Angeles, arrived in town yesterday and will remain some time.

Mrs. H. Dallas Helmcken and Mrs. Roy Troup have gone to Seattle to attend the N.P.A.A. races. They will be joined by Mr. Helmcken to-night.

A party from Los Angeles who are holidaying in town, consists of Mrs. Walsh, Miss Walsh, Mrs. A. B. Day, Mrs. M. C. Godfrey and Mrs. Baker.

Mrs. Mesher has returned to Victoria, accompanied by the Misses Mesher, who have been attending school in England. These clever young ladies have distinguished themselves in the various lines of study which they have taken up.

A visitor of note at the Baptist convention was Rev. A. L. Wadsworth, of South Pasadena, Cal., who had been a press delegate to the recent Baptist convention at Portland, and was acting in the same capacity here for the Baptist Pacific. Mr. Wadsworth left last night for Vancouver.

A group of interesting visitors in town yesterday, who made their headquarters at the Empress, were: Mrs. Nuven, president of the National Woman's Baptist Home Mission Society of the United States; Mrs. Barber, treasurer of the same, and Mrs. Westfall, corresponding secretary. Owing to limited time the ladies were not able to visit the Baptist convention, although invited to do so by Rev. C. Burnett.

Mr. Meade, of Elgin, Illinois, spent Wednesday and part of yesterday in town, leaving by the afternoon boat for Vancouver. Mr. Meade was very much impressed with the natural beauties of Victoria. He had come by the American route, and was returning to Elgin by the Canadian route. Mr. Meade's native city, Elgin, is famous as the home of the D. C. Cook Publishing Company, and also as being the place where the Elgin watch is manufactured.

SEEING VICTORIA.

Useful Guide Prepared for Visitors to the City.

A very useful guide, called "seeing Victoria," has been prepared by Secretary McGaffey of the Victoria Branch of the Vancouver Island Development League. It contains a map of the city and its environs, with all the roads in the vicinity.

The publication contains a lot of information relative to points of interest in Victoria and the various centres on the island. In addition there are given the times at which the railways and steamers leave for different points. A map of the southern part of Vancouver Island with a plan of the roads that can be covered by automobiles, appear in it. This was prepared at the instance of J. J. Shallocross and appended is a list of the distances from Victoria to the different points to be reached by auto. These are as follows:

MRS. FISKE TO-NIGHT.

Celebrated Actress Will Appear in "Salvation Nell" at Victoria Theatre.

Those who have watched the dramatic work of Mrs. Fiske, who will be seen at the Victoria theatre to-night with increasing wonder and delight from year to year, will see in "Salvation Nell" a revelation of character study that can only be the result of keen insight into human nature. Yet Mrs. Fiske, ever modest, might insist that the long training which she has undergone was equally responsible for this rare portrayal of Nell Sander's life in her newest play. A glance at her career, however, proves that her histrionic gifts made even her girlhood days famous.

Although "Salvation Nell" enlists the services of more than fifty actors, all of whom were chosen because of their reputation for excellence in the several lines or parts to which they were assigned, for her trans-continental tour Mrs. Fiske insisted that the cast should not be weakened by the substitution of actors of less experience, and consequently less salary. Even to the smallest bit, the play is faultlessly acted, and the public of Victoria will see this "Divine Comedy of the Slums" presented precisely in the same manner that electrified New York for more than half a season.

Layer Cake—Use half cup of butter, one cup of granulated sugar, half a cup of milk, two cups of pastry flour, three level teaspoonfuls of baking powder and the whites of three eggs. For a richer cake use one cup of butter, two cups of sugar, half a cup of milk, three and one-half cups of flour, four level teaspoonfuls of baking powder and the whites of seven eggs.

Anty Drudge on Washboard Dangers.

Miss Carrie New—"Isn't it too bad about Mrs. Blank's little boy? He fell in a steaming washboard and was scalded."

Anty Drudge—"Yes, it is a pity. Why women will boil clothes, when it is not only dangerous but a useless nuisance, I can't see. I must tell Mrs. Blank how much easier and better she can wash her clothes with Fels-Naptha in cool or lukewarm water without boiling."

Have you the once-a-week backache?

Do you know what causes it?

Simply long, continued bending and straightening over a washboard.

But you cannot afford to have a wash-crowman or send clothes to a laundry.

What are you going to do?

Do your washing the Fels-Naptha way and Fels-Naptha will loosen the dirt so that a few light rubs will take it out easily.

No boiling needed—only cool or lukewarm water, winter or summer.

Full directions on the red and green wrapper.

FINAL SESSIONS OF CONVENTION

The lack of suitable accommodation for girls was to be regretted. Fifteen had attended during the last term, although they had been forced to pursue their studies under difficulties. Constant applications from girls were being received, and it was thought by the board of directors that provision should be made to receive them.

A lengthy discussion, led by Rev. C. Burnett followed Mr. Sawyer's address, and the feeling of the meeting was strongly in favor of a girls' college being established.

Rev. Arthur L. Wadsworth, of South Pasadena, Cal., who was present, pointed out the advisability of Baptist young people being trained in denominational colleges if they were to be true to their own church as they grew older.

Rev. D. E. Haft moved a resolution that the convention should approve the plan of the board of directors of Okanagan College to erect a girls' building which would accommodate forty, at an estimated cost of $15,000. The resolution was seconded by Mr. Ayauch, and carried unanimously.

Time was then taken for unfinished business. A statement was submitted by the secretary, showing that five new churches had been erected in the province during the year, and there was a total increase in membership of 149, making in all 2,500 members in good standing.

It was decided that the travelling expenses of the secretary should be paid, and the balance of the convention collections go to the aged ministers' fund.

A vote of thanks was tendered the press of Victoria for their courtesy in publishing reports. The secretary of the Laymen's Missionary Movement asked that the convention should approve the asking of each church member to contribute the sum of ten cents weekly for missionary purposes, and that the duplex envelope should be used. The resolution carried. The meeting then adjourned until 8 p. m.

Tea was served by the ladies of the First Baptist church in the Emmanuel church schoolroom, for which a vote of thanks was voted on motion of Rev. Dr. Stackhouse.

Evening Session.

The following resolutions were proposed at the commencement of the evening session and carried:

"Believing as firmly as ever in the great cardinal doctrine and teaching of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ for the spiritual upliftment of humanity, this convention calls upon the churches to continue to take a sympathetic and zealous interest in the everyday and common affairs of this life. It therefore suggests that the pastors and members should strive to make the church a home for the homeless, a hospital for the sick, an asylum for the sinful, a school for the untalented, a bank for the poor, a library for the student, a recreative centre for the young, a bureau for the unemployed, a centre of Christian sympathy for the unfortunate and the suffering, thus practically seeking to carry out the invitation of the Christ: 'Come unto Me all ye that labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest.'"

"Recognizing the patriotic motives which prompted the generous gift of Lord Strathcona for the military education of the youth of Canada, this convention of Baptist churches declares itself as being opposed to the introduction of military exercises and training in the public schools of the Dominion, but regrets that the money cannot be used for the fostering of the higher patriotism in the teaching and inculcation of the arts of peace and of international brotherhood as taught by the Great Founder of Christianity."

"Whilst the Baptist body fully respects the freedom of franchise of its members, without reference to political principles of any party, this convention would declare and pronounce itself upon the great necessity of lifting the politics of our country to a higher standard of moral purity, so as to be above suspicion of such debasing and vulgar practices as 'graft,' 'boodles,' and 'corruption.' It believes that the means to this end of most practical and lasting benefit is for its members to associate themselves with the activities of the parties which they support, and by their presence and counsel to influence them in the selection of candidates for legislative offices of just and honorable men. Indicative of its interest in pure politics, and illustrative of the measures it would commend this convention cordially expresses its approval of the Lord's Day Observance act, the Local Option bill, Corrupt Practices (election) act, the Curfew by-law, the Anti-Cigarette measure, Woman's Suffrage movement, public and independent audit of all public funds, criminological reform, juvenile courts of justice, anti-race track gambling and shorter working time in stores."

It also rejoices in the proposed establishment of a provincial university, and further declares itself in favor of granting to all public bodies having the necessary equipment and teaching staff degree, conferring powers under suitable government inspection."

Rev. J. W. Williamson, the newly-elected general secretary of the British Columbia Sunday School Association, announced that the Provincial Sunday School Association convention would be held in Victoria in November, at which would be present Marion Lawrence, the great Sunday school expert, and E. O. Exell, the noted evangelist singer, and urged that all Sunday school workers should attend.

Rev. Thomas Moody and Rev. Dr. Perry, the newly inducted pastor of First Baptist church, Vancouver, were the speakers of the evening.

Dr. Moody has spent nineteen years in Central Africa, and gave a very vivid word picture of the conditions of life there. He spoke of what had been so successfully done along missionary lines, and what was urgently needed in the immediate future. Unless the Christian movement were immediate and aggressive, the natives would be won over to the Mohammedan faith.

Rev. Dr. Perry introduced his subject, "Busy Here and There," by stating that doing the secondary things meant usually that the things of real importance were left undone. While the father and mother were busy with material things, the opportunity for saving their children's souls was gone.

At the Great Divide, the stream was so narrow a child could step across. Later it became a raging torrent. A child could cross the spiritual divide easily, a man found it difficult, often impossible. Dr. Perry's address was keen and forceful, copiously illustrated with word pictures, and listened to with closest attention.

The convention was brought to a close by Dr. Stackhouse leading in prayer, after which Dr. Perry pronounced the benediction.

DR. SPENCER LECTURES

AT COBBLE HILL

Branch of Local Option League Organized and Officers Elected.

(Special Correspondence.)

Cobble Hill, July 8.—Dr. Spencer delivered a lecture here last night on temperance and local option, under the auspices of the Good Templars lodge. The attendance being the largest at any meeting ever held at Cobble Hill.

After a short programme and an address by the chairman, H. Dann, Dr. Spencer complimented the district on the attendance, especially mentioning the ladies and the support they always gave to such a cause. He pointed out the necessity for more combined effort on the part of British Columbians in the campaign.

The doctor then explained the meaning of local option, urging the necessity of voting for principle, not party. At the conclusion of his address a branch of the Local Option League was formed, the chief templear of the lodge, M. J. Copley, being elected president, with H. Dann secretary and treasurer. The lodge will start the movement at their next meeting.

The members of the lodge then served ice cream and cake, and later games were indulged in.

PECULIARITIES OF AUTOMOBILE RULES

Strange Feature Was Brought Out in Police Court This Morning.

While a man driving an automobile round a street corner must sound an alarm according to the city by-laws, there is no law to compel him to sound an alarm if he drives the automobile across the intersection of two streets, and on this ground a driver, Mr. Simpson, appearing in court this morning on remand, secured a dismissal of the case.

Simpson drove his machine recently across the intersection of Yates and Government streets without sounding an alarm. He was summoned to answer the charge of driving round the corner of those thoroughfares without sounding his horn. He explained the matter, and the city prosecutor said there was nothing in the by-law to provide for a fine being imposed, even had the information not been irregularly drawn.

King Kees and Tom King were each fined $11 for engaging in an affray on Fisgard street Wednesday. The row was the result of a loan incurred fourteen years ago and still unpaid. Mr. Harrison appeared for one of the Chinese and conducted a long cross-examination of the constable who, as chief witness, until Mr. Jay ordered him to leave the box. The solicitor registered an objection.

Stanley Burgess was fined $25 for driving an automobile along Government street at an excessive speed on the information of the chief of police. Thomas Connor wanted a little extension of time in which to earn $4, a fine imposed for being drunk last night. He felt sure he could earn it quickly. He went to jail for ten days.

Le Chong Hop, charged with obstructing the sheriff in the execution of a distress warrant, was remanded, so as to allow R. Lowe, for the defense, an opportunity to produce authorities. The case will be continued to-morrow morning.

Five boys, charged with damaging a house in course of buildings, were remanded till Monday. Their parents appeared in court this morning. The lads are from six to ten years from their appearance.

RAIN BRINGS DOLLARS TO FRASER FARMERS

Good Average Crops of Hay and Potatoes Now Assured.

New Westminster, July 8.—Reports from the country are to the effect that the rain of the last few days has been worth thousands of dollars to the farmers. Owing to the preceding dry weather many of the crops were very much behind, and it was feared that they would be far below the average. The slight rain in the early part of last week helped things somewhat, but more moisture was needed. This has been supplied in the course of the last three days.

The crops that have been particularly benefited are the hay and the potatoes. The rain of last week, coming just as the grass was about to head out, caused considerable growth and also checked the seeding out. The recent wet weather came just in time to cause additional growth, and now in place of the scant two-thirds crop that was anticipated the farmers are assured of a good average yield. The value of the potato crop will be immensely increased by the rains. The crop is now just about ready for digging; in fact, some new tubers have already appeared upon the market. In the majority of cases, however, the farmers had not yet started to dig.

PANTAGES THEATRE.

The excellent show at Pantages this week is attracting large crowds both afternoons and nights. It is an exceptional vaudeville show in that there is not a dull moment during the entire programme, and each act is of a very high order. Amy Gottlieb & Co., in "Government Bonds"; the Dancing Kids, Jenkins and Price; Zech and Zech, premier gymnasts; Kelly and Davis, Senegambian jesters, and the regular Pantages house attractions.

Herold, "The German Shadow," the most powerful and well-developed musical marvel in the world, is one of the features for next week.

FOOD IN WAR TIME

That is One of Germany's Weak Spots. An Economist Points Out.

German economists have long been complaining, says the Berlin correspondent of the Westminster Gazette, that the government, while working out its war plans in the minutest details, neglects to provide for its economic results upon the peaceful population, although even from a purely fighting point of view these results may determine the issue of a campaign. Privy Councillor Voelcker, formerly a government official and now a director of the German Steel Works Union, has been for some time privately occupied with this problem, and he publishes his conclusions in the Deutsche Wirtschaftszeitung.

The questions he sets himself to answer are, how far during war raw materials and half-manufactured material will be procurable; how far Germany can maintain her export trade during war; and how far the population can be fed. He estimates that of sixteen million Germans engaged in production, a great war will take from their work two and a half millions, or 17 per cent.

The supply of raw and half-manufactured material will be seriously interfered with, one of the restricting factors being the monopolization of the army of means of transport. Even under the most favorable circumstances Germany will be able to import material through neutral ports only to a limited extent and at greatly increased cost; but she must face the possibility of all her neighbor-states being involved in the struggle and their ports being blockaded.

A ruinous decline of exports is one result of decreased production. If the foe be stronger at sea, export, like import, will be confined to neutral ports; and, again, there may be no ports left neutral. This is Germany's weakest spot, as economists estimate that without her world trade and the industries which depend from it, she could nourish only forty millions of her sixty million population.

Dr. Voelcker thinks that the supplies of food and material in hand at the moment of an outbreak of war would not last so long as is usually calculated; that applies particularly to grain. The only domain, in fact, in which Germany is favorably situated is that of war material in the limited sense of the word. Of all that is necessary to equip an army or a fleet with weapons and ammunition there is a sufficient home supply.

SAVAGE'S LOVE OF MEDICINE

Mrs. P. Rowling, medical missionary at Gayaza, Uganda, tells many stories in the July Strand about her patients and their implicit faith in the skill and knowledge of "the white medicine-man." What she has to say on the matter is as amusing as it is interesting and instructive, and serves to illustrate a curious trait of the savage mind that has been commented upon by travellers in practically all parts of the world—viz., the keen delight which natives take in sampling the white man's drugs. It matters not whether the subject be well or ill, or whether the medicine be palatable or nauseous medicine they must have it if it is to be obtained.

"The native patients," writes Mrs. Rowling, "are most amusing in the implicit faith they have in the 'white doctor,' as they call Miss Pilgrim, her medicine."
